Sharing Our History Through Storytelling

Hey !

Vanessa here.

I've had another book release, Murder in Westminster, and now I'm book-touring. Murder in Westminster is my hardcover mystery centered on Lady Worthing, a woman of privilege, of mixed descent (Scottish and Jamaican) with an absentee husband and wonderful crazy family and friends. Pity people keep dying around her.

The talk about Lady Worthing:

Library Journal - "Fans of Regency-era historical mysteries featuring intelligent heroines (such as Andrea Penrose's Lady Arianna or Tasha Alexander's Lady Emily) will find this series a welcome addition to the genre."

Publishers Weekly—"Riley offers a vibrant picture of the roles Black and mixed-race people played in Regency life. Fans of Bridgerton will enjoy this one."

Back to the book tour:

I will be in Suwanee and Woodstock this week. Also, I visit Tampa, Houston, Pasadena, and more. My events page on my website has all the details.

Follow my Instagram to get more real-time event happenings and more.

Come out if you can. Tell a friend, or order a signed copy from one of these beautiful indie bookstores.

powerful historical novel based on two remarkable real women.

LEARN MORE ABOUT THE BOOK

NEW HISTORICAL MYSTERY

Murder in Westminster

The first book in a diversely cast Regency-set mystery series and featuring an amateur female sleuth who must solve her neighbor's murder after being listed as one of the prime suspects, to Kensington.

Smart, witty, and refreshingly diverse, this new Regency-set series from acclaimed author Vanessa Riley combines her signature emotional richness and attention to detail in a historical mystery featuring a strong, clever, and captivating heroine. Publisher's Weekly says: "Riley offers a vibrant picture of the roles Black and mixed-race people played in Regency life.

Fans of Bridgerton will enjoy this one."

Thank you for all you do. Keep spreading the word.

Be blessed.

XOXO

That's all for now.

Till next time.
